all agreed that a thorough internal management review be made by each Deputy Director and Staff Chief of their respective components.

2. The review will initially encompass a study of functions, organizations and personnel requirements of each component and would include a study to determine whether duplication of effort and marginal operations exist which should be eliminated. Copies of current and, if applicable, proposed organizational changes will accompany each respective study. Consideration would also be given to determining the proper balance between professional and clerical personnel. (For example: a. Would it be advisable to eliminate four GS-05 clerical positions (20 points CSGA) and establish one GS-14 and one GS-06 position (20 points CSGA) to accommodate Top Secret Control functions being transferred to the Office of Security? Ceiling in this instance would be reduced from [REDACTED] b. The feasibility of centralizing the [REDACTED] System could potentially result in a reduction of 16 to 12 positions, etc.)
